

For students who do not wish to limit themselves to the usual disciplines, the Department of Interdisciplinary Studies offers a newly-created Self-Elected major. Through this self-elected major a student may choose a special program of studies leading to a Bachelor of Arts degree major in Interdisciplinary Studies.

INTERDISCIPLINARY STUDIES

SELF-ELECTED

MAJORS

- : CANADIAN STUDIES
- : THIRD WORLD STUDIES
- : DRAMA
- : ITALIAN STUDIES
- : OTHER SPECIAL PROGRAMS MAY BE ARRANGED THROUGH THE ASSISTANT
TO THE DEAN OF ARTS

Dr. Sean McEvenue
Room C-307 Central Bldg.
482-0320 Ext. 220

CANADIAN STUDIES

Co-ordinator
Marcel Danis
Assistant Professor
Political Science
Office: 6937 Sherbrooke Street
Room 27A
Telephone: 482-0320, Ext. 293

Canadian Studies offers a comprehensive look at Canada and Canadian life from historical, political, economic and literary perspectives.

PROGRAM STRUCTURE

Courses which constitute a major in Canadian Studies:

English 330	Canadian Literature (a survey course)
French	to be decided with the program co-ordinator in consultation with the French Department
History 201	History of Canada
Political Science 320	Canadian Government and Politics

Students must take the above-listed courses and four of a selection of 26 offered by the various disciplines and departments.

THIRD WORLD STUDIES

Co-ordinator
Michael Mason
Assistant Professor
History Department
Office: 6935 Sherbrooke Street
Room 14A
Telephone: 482-0320, Ext. 456

The Third World Program will look at the conglomerate of nations which forms the nucleus of the so-called "Third World". The areas to be studied will be Asia, Africa, Central and South America. Studies of the developing nations and continents in this group would include History, Economy, Political Organization, Socio-Cultural and Socio-Psychological Organization.

Students who enrol in the program are expected to take the introductory course, the final seminar, and at least five other courses on the Third World.

DRAMA

Co-ordinator
Philip Spensley
Assistant Professor
English Department
Office: Hingston Hall, Room 308
Telephone: 482-2510, Ext. 236

Drama will offer a special program of studies and will include courses from English, Classics, Communication Arts, Modern Languages and French departments.

Of the seven - English 312, English 401A, English 353B, Classics 484, either English 418 or English 422, and one additional full course or two equivalent half courses in Practical Theatre - five are compulsory.

Pre-requisites are English 312, English 401A and English 353B.

---

ITALIAN STUDIES

Co-ordinator
Carlo Fonda
Professor
Modern Languages Department
Office: 3502 Belmore Avenue
Telephone: 482-0320, Ext. 304

Students who wish to concentrate on Italian studies may have special programs arranged. Studies may include courses from Modern Languages, Sociology, English, Classics, History, Philosophy and Theology departments.